“GREY’S ANATOMY” COMMISSIONS LOCAL ARTISTS FOR UPCOMING SHOWS

– Litsy Designs produces artwork for new episodes of ABC hit show –

CHAPEL HILL, NC, September 15, 2006 – Litsy Designs, a local art firm founded by Chapel Hill residents Lisa Wojnovich and Patsy Smith, has been commissioned to produce artwork for the ABC hit show, “Grey’s Anatomy.” The firm has produced seven large canvases that will be showcased in the show’s nursery set during the upcoming third season. The episodes with the artwork will air later this fall.

Lisa Wojnovich, a stay at home mom who co-founded Litsy Designs in 2005, commented, “We are thrilled that “Grey’s Anatomy” discovered our artwork for their show. It’s a tremendous honor to be associated with such a popular show. This is another important milestone for our growing company.”

The artwork commissioned for the show include a number of unique, colorful hand painted 20” x 20” canvases combining vibrant backgrounds with animal designs that will complement the “Grey’s Anatomy” set. The art required two weeks to complete and will ship this week for delivery to the set.

“We believe the playful aspect of our Litsy Designs plays very well with the playful nature of the show,” noted Patsy Smith, the other co-founder of Litsy Designs.

Litsy Designs has been active in the art community, both locally and nationally, since its inception in 2005. The company has participated in numerous art shows throughout North Carolina, as well as major metropolitan markets like Chicago, IL and Los Angeles, CA. Additionally, Litsy Designs will be featured on America One Television Network’s Fall Showcase in late-September 2006 and will be headlining arts and crafts festivals in North Carolina throughout the holiday season.

About Litsy Designs
